ODDS AND ENDS SALE AT BAIKE'S BIG CURIO

The Greatest Opportunity to Get Good Goods at Surprisingly Low Prices.

An odds and ends sale is not being inaugurated at Baike's Big Curio store in preparation for the annual stock taking of the store. It is desired to close out all lines that have been depleted by the recent rush. There will come under this sale Mexican Zorapas, Mexican drawn work, Russian hammered brass and a large variety of articles of native copper and of orange wood, to say nothing of what is left in Arizona ostrich feathers.

In nearly all these lines there is still left a complete assortment but there are no few articles of a kind that it is intended to close out the entire lines. This must necessarily be done at a sacrifice and the Big Curio store is ready to make the sacrifice. Not only does it figure on an entire loss of profit, but it goes further and agrees to forget the original cost; anything to get rid of the goods.

Those who are satisfied with something less than a profusion of articles to select from will find in these lines, perhaps as good goods in the various articles as there was before the beginning of the Christmas rush.

This same profusion has perhaps spoiled the customers of the Big Curio store; they have been used to seeing so many articles of the same kind in the different departments that when they only see a few, they imagine the variety has been cut down. But that is not the case. Some idea of the extent of the cut in prices that is being made can be gathered from the fact that there is a lot of brooches set with native precious stones going at $1.50 each, until this week brooches from this lot which have been selling for as much as $5.

INDIAN CHIEF HAS BECOME A SCORCHER

It is Just Two Years Since North Dakota Red Man Acquired an Automobile.

Just two short years ago there occurred the first sale of an automobile to an American Indian. Though hundreds of Indians own cars now there is no more enthusiastic driver among the red men than one to whom falls the honor of being the first.

This unique distinction rests with Chief White Eagle of the Standing Rock reservation in North Dakota. Early in 1910 White Eagle purchased a touring car in a most novel way. As the head of his tribe he was the proud possessor of a rare collection of treaty medals which had come down from his great-grandfather. They were the consideration for an exchange of land entered into between the old chieftan and General Jackson. Side stepping the ties of sentiment which made these medals of value to him, White Eagle converted them into cash. As soon as he had sold a sufficient quantity of the relics to net him the price of the automobile he wanted he "hit the trail" for the salesroom and not long after came back the proud owner of a touring car.

Today Chief White Eagle is a most enthusiastic driver. Though by nature inclined to be reckless he handles his car remarkably well. When safe in the land of his birth, where "scorching cops" are an unknown quantity, and the sign, "Slow moving vehicles keep close to the curb" are unheard of, he scoots across sage brush and alkali apparently as much at home in his car as when on his bucking broncho.

It is White Eagle's belief now that the Indian pony is going with the city horse as the worth of the automobile becomes more generally known. He is a confirmed motor car enthusiast and, as an owner, is a decided favorite with the "cow punchers" in the surrounding sections.

CRIMINALS ACTIVE IN THE YEAR 1911

Slight Increase in Money Paid in Fines and Bails Forfeited.

Sociologists say that as a city grows crime grows with it. Phoenix must have grown a little in the last year, then, according to the figures that are being totaled on the police court records.

The number of cases have not yet been totaled, but court attaches say that the increase was large. The fines paid and bails forfeited make a total of $964.61, which is an increase of $12 over 1910. The summer months always bring more work for those who deal with criminals and the quarter which includes July, August and September brought a total in fines and bails of $1737. August was the heaviest month of all.

Twelfth annual automobile show, to be opened in Madison Square Garden a week from tomorrow, will show new models chiefly remarkable for the increased consideration shown feminine users.

THE SUCCESS

Lamson Business College Student

is largely due to special instruction in Business English, and special training in Office Work.

For man years, we have employed at least one teacher who was very successful in teaching Business English and Letter Writing.

Thorough office training has been one of the principal features of the Lamson Business College for the past ten years.

At the opening of the Winter Term, Tuesday, January 2, 1912, Prof. A. H. Fulton will be the special teacher of Business English, and Letter Writing.

Do you know that less than one-fourth of the young men who attend the Lamson Business College wish to secure positions as Bookkeepers or Stenographers? During the past two years we have had five positions offered to every young man who was preparing especially for office work. Why not enter next Tuesday and prepare yourself for a high salaried position?
